Woman's leg cut by thrown bottle

PAHOKEE—A 24-year-old Pahokee man was arrested on charges of aggravated battery Monday, when he allegedly threw a bottle at a Pahokee woman, cutting her leg. Patrolman Etheridge Bryant, Pahokee Police Department, said James Jones, 225

Shirley Drive was arrested in connection with the charges, and booked into the Palm Beach County Jail under a $3,000 bond.

Police reports state JoAnn Barnes was walking along the street in the vicinity of the Pic and Pay Store in the 100 block of 4th street, when Jones allegedly picked up a bottle and threw it at her.

Barnes was cut on the left thigh by flying glass, and eight stitches were required to close the wound.

Police reports state the woman lost a good deal of blood, and was transported to the Everglades Memorial Hospital Emergency Room by ambulance.

Man charged in burning of home

CANAL POINT—A 42-year-old Canal Point man was arrested on charges of first degree arson by the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office Friday, after an apparent argument between he and his wife.

Detective Rick Radford said Charles F. Brannan, Lot 16, Depot St., and his wife Sylvia supposedly became involved in a heated argument when Brannan left the residence.

Radford said the man waited outside the home until his wife and three children had exited the trailer, then entered the home and allegedly set fire to the kitchen, living room and a bedroom.

Sources revealed the man exited the home, leaving the fires burning.

The fire was extinguished by the Pahokee Fire Department. Pahokee Fire chief Dan Sanders said damage to the home was minimal, but the trailer did sustain smoke damage throughout.

Along with Det. Radford, the investigation was conducted by Pahokee Fire Department personnel, and Richard Schulz of the State Fire Marshall's Office.

PAHOKEE OBSERVATION

By Eric Kopp

Hair-raising tales

"I'll never go back there again! Just look at me! My hair is ruined!"

Such was an outburst I was subjected to the other day by a woman who felt her cosmetologist should change her name to Geronimo.

The lady stated she went to the beautician for a trim, and came out resembling a Marine in boot camp.

"I think you're hair looks nice," I said somewhat timidly.

"What! Are you blind? A peach has more fuzz than my head!" she shrieked.

Then I really put my foot in my mouth, and came close to losing my hair. "Well, a woman your age looks better with short hair."

"What do you mean my age? You better watch your step hair ball, or else I'm going to kneed drop you until your spleen ruptures!"

I covered like a whipped pup.

She picked up a desk and bounced it off the wall, and struck a pose like Arnold Schwarzenegger.

"I'm going back to that clip joint, grab that scissor happy butcher by her scrawny little neck, and make her do the chicken!" she bellowed.

I thoughtly believed her too.

I haven't been so scared since my grandmother caught me swiping a piece of her chocolate pie. I learned quickly, you don't mess with her pie if you wanted to retain use of your hands.

Why do people get so upset over a little simple thing like a haircut?

The only difference between a good haircut, and a bad haircut, is two weeks of hell.

I've seen grown women go in to hysterics, and men turn into Conan the Barbarian, over a haircut.

Every time I've ever received a bad haircut, I just look for granted the barber had been in the hair tonic again, so I just didn't go back.

(He could have at least shined it so I wouldn't know how badly my hair was cut.)

I can't speak for beauty shops, but the days of hanging around the barber shop discussing politics, sports, and aggravating wives is over.

My grandfather was a barber, and he bartered almost up to the day he died.

Now, grandpa could spin some tails.

One of his favorite things to do when business was slow, was to take a group of kids together, and have them hide an egg underneath one of their hats. If grandpa guessed where the egg was hidden, he would give that young man a shampoo.

Here's the catch. He would go along and stand each one of them on top of the head until the hidden chicken product was running down the boy's face.

He, and the kids, would break out laughing and the boy with "egg on his face" would get his free shampoo.

War stories? You've never heard such lying as you'll hear in an old time barber shop.

Here again I refer to my grandfather's shop.

He had one customer, an old timer named Charlie. Whenever Charlie walked in, the barber shop waiting customers would scatter.

They knew they were going to hear some of the darndest lying that ever came down the pike, and they didn't want to spend the next three hours listening to him spin his yarns.

Charlie would start in on grandpa's big barber chair, light a Lucky Strike, and go to talkin'.

"Me and wife, he never called her by her name, only wife, were watching television the other evening when all of a sudden, BOOM! We ran to the kitchen and the door was blown off the upright freezer.

"Come to find out, wife had put some of them there frozen biscuits in the freezer. You know the ones in the can?"

Well, them things exploded and ruined my freezer, and damned near scared ten years off me," said Charlie stoned faced.

You don't get to hear neat stuff like that in a barber shop anymore. Modern shops are more like assembly lines.

"They wash your hair, cut it, then dry it, all before you can smoke a cigarette or tell the barber your favorite joke.

I miss seeing the old boys sitting around playing checkers or dominoes, swapping lies, and generally giving young boys memories to hold on to.

But, I guess that's progress.

Whether the haircuts are any better or not, I don't know. But, at least, customers won't have to worry about sitting in a barber chair with egg all over their faces anymore.

Precious freedom

More than two hundred years ago our forefathers signed the Declaration of Independence. This was a courageous step and not altogether popular.

As we think about it we will recall their courage and wisdom with fervor and admiration, because they enjoyed the benefits of their determination. We look back at the great men of history, many of whom were only heroes after their death.

Prophets are not particularly popular for their calling to our attention to the weaknesses of our country or community. They look through the window dressing or the haze of good times and see dangers which are lurking over the horizon.

The writer of Hebrews in the eleventh chapter has named an honor roll of heroes of the faith. He begins with Abel and lists Abraham, Sarah, Moses, Rahab, Gideon, Samson, Jephthah, David, Samuel, and the prophets.

The beginning of the twelfth chapter of Hebrews reads: "Therefore, since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and sin which clings so closely, and let us run with perseverance the race that is set before us, looking to Jesus the pioneer and perfecter of our faith, who for the joy that was set before Him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is seated at the right hand of the throne of God."

The witness of the heroes of the faith stand us in good stead. It is the memory of past glory which can encourage and inspire us to achieve new heights of glory.

Christianity was born in an insignificant country in the desert under the domination of the Roman Empire. Its leader was from the jumping off place in this dismal country.

Yet we are to look to Jesus Christ who is the pioneer and perfecter of our faith. He went to His death that we might have life and the beauty that goes with it.

Our country began on a rocky wilderness or a swampy fever-infested lowland. Many of the people either starved to death or died of disease.

Yet there was a desire to have a new start in life. They had their eyes on the future. They also were looking to God in whom they had faith.

It is altogether right and we take new courage from the Christian heroes. Listen to the courage of Abraham. "By faith Abraham obeyed when he was called to go out to a place which was to receive as an inheritance; and he went out, not knowing where he was to go." (Hebrews 11:8)

The Abraham and Sarah, who were old, became the parents of a great people. Or, Moses, advanced in age, became the leader of the greatest migration (the Exodus) of all times.

We owe much to the past. We must not dwell on their glory but work continually that "This nation under God shall have a new birth of freedom!"

Freedom must be won anew each generation. Freedom is directly related to submission to God. Only then may we truly have freedom and carry on our heritage.

Crusaders win by 50

2 CDS players of the week

BELLE GLADE—The Christian Day Crusaders are on a winning streak. The Crusaders stomped the Orlando Heritage Traitorians 50-0, in an away game last Saturday.

Crusader Quarterback David Chambliss rushed a total of 221 yards on 23 carries and scored 3 touchdowns.

CDS Quarterback Joey Miller also scored two touchdowns.

Crusader head coach Joe Ray said despite the win, in the beginning of the game his team wasn't looking good.

"We were real sloppy at first," said Ray. "But we finally got our timing down. Our defense won the ball game."

Ray also said the Traitorians were a larger team, size-wise and that they had good speed, but their strategy mistake was that they wanted to run towards the inside.

"They tried to run to our strong sides," said Ray. "But we jumped on them early."

The Crusaders scored more than half of their points before the third quarter. At half-time the score stood CDS 30, Traitorians 0.

JOEY MILLER

Joey Miller, a sophomore at Christian Day School, has been named CDS athlete of the week. Miller is a quarterback on the Crusader varsity football team. Football head coach Joe Ray said Miller did a great job directing the offense in the game between CDS and Orlando Heritage this past week. During the game, Miller had a 2-5 passing for 76 yards. Currently, he has accumulated 384 rushing and passing yards.

WILLIE MARRS

Willie Marrs is the unsung hero at Christian Day School this week. Marrs is a senior and holds the position of defensive tackle on the varsity football team. Coach Joe Ray said during the game against Orlando Heritage Prep this past Saturday, Marrs made two big fumble recoveries and also had five tackles.

"He did an outstanding job on defense and also when he switched to offense," said Ray. "He didn't make any mistakes and he really hustled."

Sports For Understanding accepting applications

Sport for Understanding (SFU), a nonprofit international sports exchange program, is now accepting applications for its 1986 teams which will be traveling to Europe, Australia, Latin America and Asia. SFU is a program of Youth for Understanding, one of the largest nonprofit international educational organizations, sanctioned to travel by which has exchanged over 100,000 students during its 34 years of operation.

This past summer some 300 high school students, ages 14-19, traveled abroad in teams of 12-18 players accompanied by a volunteer coach. Each team embarked on a four-week program between June 15 and August 30, and all teams were officially sanctioned to travel by the respective sport governing body and high school athletic association.

"We are planning a further expansion of the program next summer," reported SFU Executive Director Dick Willard. "We will offer 40 teams covering 17 different sports ranging from soccer to gymnastics, judo to water polo. In addition, we are introducing a 1985 winter season of ice hockey to Finland, and Alpine ski touring to Austria, and a recreational pursuit program involving scuba in the Caribbean, bicycle touring to England and France, trekking in Austria, and "Tall Ship" sailing off the coast of Holland."

The SFU Program is designed for the average or better athlete. Participants must have a 2.0 or better GPA. Program fees range from $1150 to itineraries are balanced between sport, cultural learning and family living.

"We encourage people to sign up early in the season," said Willard. "Since most of our teams for last summer filled well before the April 1 deadline. We select our coaches during October, and all are required to attend a mid-December seminar."

Gator fumbles costly in 22-7 loss to Vikings

By ERIC KOPP

BELLE GLADE — "Fumbling is one of those things you start doing, then one day you wake up and it's over," said Glades Day Head Coach Byron Walker of his Gators six fumbles in last Friday's 22-7 loss to Bishop Verot.

"I honestly believe our fumbling problem is because we're trying too hard," said Walker as his Gators amassed over 300 yards of total offense for the second week in a row.

The Gators broke out on top with 4:22 left in the first quarter, when senior running back Jorge Suarez scored on a four yard run.

Things started going bad for the Gators in the second quarter, when a Glades Day drive was halted on a Willie Bueno fumble on the Vikings 35.

The Vikings capitalized on the opportunity, and went ahead of the Gators as Bishop Verot's Derrick Hallman scampered into the end zone for his first of three touchdowns.

The two-point conversion attempt was good, and the Vikings led 8-7.

The Gators came roaring back, and mounted a drive that took them to the Vikings four yard line.

With a second and goal situation, the hand-off from quarterback John Hundley to Suarez went afoul, and the Vikings recovered.

"We missed a block, and he was hit on the exchange. The ball ended up on the ground, and they recovered," said Walker.

Bishop Verot scored their final two touchdowns in the fourth quarter when Hallman scored on runs from four and 18 yards out.

Both scores were the result of fumbles by the Gators.

The Gators will do battle with St. Johns Neumann in a 1:30 contest Saturday.

St. Johns has been tabbed by the media to take the district championship from the Gators this year.

Walker said the two teams match up fairly evenly.

"Size-wise we're pretty equal. We have an edge in quickness, but they've been building this team for three years now, which is why some people are picking them to win our district," stated Walker.

He said St. Johns will operate from a Wing-T set, and is basically a run oriented team. Defensively, Walker said he expects to see a 4-4 or a 6-2 set up.

"We'll wait and see for sure, but if they try to stack the middle on us we'll throw the ball," he said.

Walker said the biggest plus for this week's opponents is that they don't make mistakes.

Glades Day defeated St. Johns 27-0 last year, and Walker said if they can duplicate that feat this year it would be a big step toward winning the district.

GATOR DEFENSIVE BACK Jorge Suarez leaps high to intercept a pass in the Gators 22-7 loss to Bishop Verot Friday.

PAHOKEE—Athletic Director Joe McIlwain said reserved seating tickets are still available for all Pahokee High School home football games.

Stiles, Frederick exchange wedding vows in double ring ceremony

BELLE GLADE Mary Elizabeth (Elise) Stiles became the bride of Thomas Scott Frederick in a double ring ceremony Sunday, June 22.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Stiles of Lake Harbor. The groom is the son of Carolyn Frederick and the late Fred Frederick of Belle Glade.

Rev. Ray Brown, pastor of the Community Methodist Church, performed the ceremony. The organist was Karen Corbin.

Solists were Julie Gummere and Bill Taylor. Ms. Gummere sang "The Lord's Prayer," Mr. Taylor and Ms. Gummere sang "To Me" and "Lord Lift Us Up" together.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. The double-ring ceremony had a special meaning to the bride and groom. The band the groom played on the bride's finger belonged to her maternal grandmother. She presented the groom with the ring that had been his father's.

Elise wore a white silk organza dress with a bodice of embroidered overlay. The off-shoulder scooped neckline was accented with silk roses. The puffed sleeves were elbow length, complimented with short lace trimmed silk organza gloves.

The chapel length train was trimmed with satin ribbon and bordered with lace. The lace and pearl trimmed blue garter she wore was made for her by a special friend of the family.

To compliment her gown, Elise chose a derby styled hat of organza accented with sequins and pearls. The sheer fingertip illusion and blusher was the finishing touch.

The bride carried a bouquet of variegated silk violets bordered with white and trimmed with lavender ribbon.

Maid of Honor Mayte Figueiras, best friend of the bride, wore a floor length dress of violet taffeta with embroidered bodice, off the shoulder and elbow length pleated sleeves.

She carried a spring bouquet of shades of pink carnations, lavender statice and babies breath with bridesmaids were Donna Stiles, cousin of the bride, and her sister, Molly Stiles. They wore dresses identical to the maid of honor. Each girl wore a strand of pearls.

The flowergirl was Farrah Shotts, niece of the groom. She wore a violet taffeta dress designed similar to the attendants. She also wore a strand of pearls. She carried a basket of pink rose petals.

The best man was Cary McKee, best friend of the groom from Belle Glade. He wore an all white tuxedo with silk violet boutonniere.

Groomsmen were Alex Morales of Belle Glade, Hugo Matos of Belle Glade and Ray Alonso of West Palm Beach.

They were dressed in pearl gray tuxedos with white pleated shirts and lavender ties and cummerbund. All groomsmen wore white carnation boutonniere.

The ringbearer was Steven McKinley, cousin of the bride. He was dressed identical to the groomsmen.

The bride's mother wore a long sleeved, street length dress of dusty rose chiffon. The neckline was trimmed with iridescent pearls.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS FREDERICK

She wore a corsage of white orchids.

The groom's mother wore a long sleeved street length dress of mauve pink silk crepe.

The bodice featured a draped fold from the shoulder to the hipline. She wore a white orchid corsage.

A background of potted palms accented the arched way of spring fern in the church. The altar was decorated with two standing baskets of pink carnations, roses, gladioli, babies breath and lavender statice, topped with a nine-candle tiered candelabra. The groom's paternal church pews were marked with pastel floral arrangements.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church social hall of the Lake Harbor Methodist Church.

The social hall was decorated with lavender streamers and bells. On the hor d'oeuvres table there was a spring arrangement and candelabra in the center. The tables were decorated with white lace tablecloths and fern. Her colors were lavender and white.

The cake was a white four tiered cup pedestal cake with violets bordering each layer of the cake in a heart shape. It was topped with a porcelain bride and groom.

Assisting in serving were Diane Richen of Belle Glade, Barbara Stiles of Lake Harbor and Freida Stiles of Okeschoke.

Gloria Ramos of West Palm Beach was in charge of the bride's book. Molly Norman was the director in charge of the wedding and flowers.

Time Out For Travel

 INNOCENTS ABROAD

While abroad, some travelers get taken in by the "duty-free" signs that they see in foreign airports. These signs do not mean that the goods brought there are free of U.S. Customs assessments when the duty-free limit has been exceeded. At this writing, Americans who have been out of the U.S. for at least 48 hours and who have claimed no exemptions during the previous 30 days are entitled to bring in duty-free up to $400 worth of goods for personal use. For the next $1,000 worth, inspectors will assess a flat 10 percent duty. The "duty-free" signs in airports simply mean that the foreign items for sale there were brought into that country free of duty. Thus, they are presumed to have a low cost. It is not necessarily so.

Your travel agent can advise you on all the rules and requirements that pertain to travelers abroad. Be sure to ask. In other matters, the city heard from Bill Underwood, the assistant city finance director about the master plan concerning the Belle Glade Airport.

If you are in need of a special care facility you should contact the Belle Glade Fire Department at 996-2035.

Kennedy said Palm Beach County has lost more lives to hurricanes than anywhere in the United States, except for Galveston County, Underwood said that the State Department of Transportation is willing to fund 90 percent of the master plan for the airport, providing the city pay 5 percent of the cost.

Strang said the airport must meet the minimum standards of the FAA (Federal Aviation Association) funding. Future plans for the airport include a fence for security, parking Texas.

"We haven't done our share in providing the bare minimum of volunteers needed," said Miller.

Turner said the Red Cross is funded strictly from donations from the public, and there are currently 20 staff members, and over 20,000 volunteers in Palm Beach County.

said she would pay a portion of the cost per month until the bill was paid.

Also at this time, said Strang, the funeral home was to be remodeled.

"She told us that we were welcome to find the unauthorized tap when they had their engineers on the property for remodeling," said Strang. "The engineers never showed."

"There was no payment and the letters we sent them weren't answered, so I turned it over to Mr. Baker," said Strang.

Strang said the unknown tap has probably been there since the building was built.

Baker told city officials that he is drawing up a court order for the funeral home.

Baker also added that it was a matter of digging up the sidewalks and pavement around the funeral home and disconnecting the tap.

"There could be a chance of water contamination. It's a shame to have to do it that way, but you have to get some people's attention," said Baker.

Belle Glade Commissioner Dan Bythwood told the group farmers in this area need their people to work, and cannot afford for them to be off three to five days in court.

"We all know how hard it is slow to get witnesses or victims to just go two miles to the courthouse, can you imagine the problems in-involved in getting them to the coast?" asked Washington.

According to some sources the steering committee is made up of circuit court judges Fine, Garrison, Harper, Mount, Born, and Chief Judge Emery Newell.

Ball called for the citizens of the Glades to write to these judges and make their feelings known.

The city commission also granted the request of NOAH (Neighbors Organized for Adequate Housing) to hold a "Heritage Day" at Airport Park on November 23. A sampling of ethnic foods, display of ethnic dress, music of different cultures and listening to various speakers would take place during the day.

Also approved by the commission was giving the South Florida Water Management an acre municipal golf course land to aid in rebuilding hurricane floodgate on the lake.

The city will receive $28,400 in return, which will be used to relocate No. 2 and No. 3 green on the golf course.

Man, juveniles arrested

BELLE GLADE-A 26 year old Belle Glade man and 2 juveniles were arrested on robbery, grand theft and attempted abduction Monday, September 23.

Police spotted the car siding in the escape parked by the City Hall offices which also led to the arrests of the suspects. A small portion of the money stolen during the robbery was recovered in the car.

Robert Lee Watson, 26, 333 SW Ave. E. Apt. 205, is held under a $10,000 bond in the county jail and the two juveniles will be held in the Juvenile Detention Center in West Palm Beach.

Investigation at the scene revealed that the robbery was perpetrated by three Ball said committees will be formed to address the problem areas such as statistics, public relations, presenting their case to the committee, and preparing and presenting the case to the Supreme Court.

Washington said she is going to write a letter to the judges and invite them to the Glades to talk with the people.

"I may get a negative response, but I'm going to write it anyway," she said.

"Regardless of what we do, we must do it now. Time is of the essence," said Ball.

Pahokee Mayor Duncan Padgett and South Bay Mayor Clarence Anthony told the group their city attorneys have been instructed to draw up a resolution stating their support for the Glades jury district.

Eggplant Parmesan

Angela Garguilo, advertising representative for the Belle Glade Herald, considers herself a gourmet cook. This particular dish, a recipe out of her grandmother's cookbook, is very filling. Garguilo said this dish is inexpensive to make and makes a lot at a time, so you can freeze it and use it at a later date.

"When you come from a family of 12, you learn to make meals that stretch!" says Garguilo.

TOMATO SAUCE

- 1 large can tomato sauce
- 1 large can tomato puree
- 3 cloves garlic (diced)
- 2 medium onions (diced)

- 1 tbsp. parsley
- 1 tbsp. oregano
- 1 tbsp. salt and pepper
- 1 tbsp. sugar

Brown garlic and onions in 2 tablespoons oil in a large saucpan. Add tomato sauce and puree and all seasonings, adding a can of water for each tomato sauce and puree. Stir occasionally. Let cook on low heat approximately 3 1/4 hours.

Ingredients

- 1 medium to large eggplant
- 3 eggs, beaten with 3/4 cup milk, salt and pepper

- 1 large mozzarella cheese (sliced)
- Parmesan cheese
- Bread Crumbs, Italian Style

Peel black skin off eggplant and slice into round slices. In large skillet, heat oil on low setting.

Dip each slice eggplant in beaten egg, then into bread crumbs, brown in skillet on both sides.

Place eggplant in large baking pan in single layer, sprinkle Parmesan cheese and lay a slice of mozzarella cheese on each eggplant slice. Cover with tomato sauce. Repeat each layer as above. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour.

Year-round bananas

Banana prices fluctuate from week to week and from store to store. Yet, prices are normally competitive with fruit grown in this country. Considering their long journey from producer to retailer, plus time spent in grocery warehouse ripening rooms, low banana prices are reason for wonder.

Bananas are one of the few fruits that develop best flavor when ripened after harvest. They are displayed in grocery stores at varying stages of ripeness — making it possible to choose the best degree of ripeness for intended use. For cooking or for use within a day or two, buy light yellow, plump bananas with green tips. These will continue to ripen at room temperature. Very green, thin bananas are less likely to develop good flavor, even when given ripening time after purchase. For bananas to use as soon as you buy them, pick the color you like best. For most people, this is a yellow background color flecked with brown. Inside an unbroken skin of this description, the flesh is mellow and full-flavored.

Should you put bananas in the refrigerator? Mostly no, sometimes yes. Comfortable room temperature is best for home storage of unripe bananas. At this temperature, the starch in the banana changes into sugar as the fruit ripens. At home refrigerator temperatures, bananas turn dark but do not ripen. Ripe bananas may be placed in the refrigerator to delay further ripening. By so doing, you may be able to keep a ripe banana usable for two or three days, during which time it would possibly become overripe in a day's time at room temperature. Banana skins darken in the refrigerator before the flesh does, making darkskins of the refrigerated fruit an unreliable indicator of interior color.

The mellow rich flavor of bananas makes them taste more calorie-rich than they are. One medium banana supplies 85 to 95 calories plus some iron and vitamin A. Their high pectin content and easy digestibility make them ideal dessert choices for infants, senior citizens, and convalescents. The high potassium content of bananas makes them a frequent recommendation by physicians to patients who are taking diuretics.

Cheese you can freeze

Recent tests on freezing cheese should be good news for those who would like the convenience of a stock of their favorites on hand. Ten different varieties of cheese proved successful for home freezing in tests conducted by the Minnesota Experiment Station. But the success depends on rapid freezing as well as the composition of the cheese. The temperature in the freezer should be zero degrees F or lower, and the pieces or packages of cheese should weigh no more than one pound.

The varieties of cheese that were successfully frozen and kept in freezer storage for six months in the Minnesota tests were: cheddar, brick, Port du Salut, Swiss, provolone, mozzarella, liederkranz, camembert, parmesan and romano.

The three brands of blue cheese tested all became crumbly and mealy after freezing. But if blue cheese is to be used for salad or dressings, this would not be a disadvantage and might make the cheese handier to use.

Since the cream cheese in the tests became watery and mealy, it is not recommended for freezing.

To freeze cheese, cut it in pieces no larger than a one pound portion, or if using packaged cheese, it should weight no more than a pound. Small cheeses like camembert and liederkranz may be left in their original packages or you can use an overwrap for extra protection.

Any cut cheese, such as wedges of cheddar, should be closely wrapped in freezer foil. Press the foil tight with the hands to keep air out. Freeze at zero degrees F or lower, and thaw in the refrigerator.
